

Device and Media Guidelines

Cell phones and mobile devices have become a part of everyday life. As such, the following guidelines have been developed to help participants understand the appropriate use of said devices during a Deep Impact week. Keep in mind that while mobile devices are often helpful and convenient, they also have great potential to detract from the Deep Impact experience.

With this in mind, please adhere to the following:

- Cell phones are prohibited for students during worship. Please use a hard copy of the Bible.
- Adults are discouraged from cell phone use during worship.
- Cell phones should not be used on the project sites, except as necessary by an adult.
- Deep Impact strongly suggests that all students leave devices and phones in their rooms at the lodging facility during the day, as well as during worship
- Student ministry leaders are encouraged to designate specific times for their students to use cell phones.
- All students and leaders are discouraged from sharing cell phone numbers and becoming followers on social media with any person that we minister to through our mission projects.
- Discernment should be exercised when sharing cell phone numbers and social media with DI participants from other churches.

Please keep in mind that any electronic device or other valuable is brought at the risk of the person bringing the property. Deep Impact and Baptists on Mission will not be responsible for the damage, loss or theft of any personal property brought to any camp.
